The Paradoxes and Challenges of Christianity in the Postmodern Era: A Film & Discussion Series

Hosted by St. Vincent's & St. Mary of the Crown Catholic Church

1/14 | 6-9 PM | The Gathering Center

Pier Paolo Pasolini's The Gospel According to St.

Matthew (1964) With no professional actors and no narration or dialogue except what is provided by Matthew, this film has an almost documentary, newsreel quality, with Jesus often speaking to us over his shoulder as we follow him around. The film exists to showcase Matthew's language, and between the spoken Italian and the King James English subtitles, it's pure poetry, especially haunting in Our Lord's two principal discourses - the Sermon on the Mount and the pronouncing of "the woes" upon the Pharisees and hypocrites. Among its reviewers, even nonbelievers profess themselves to have been profoundly moved. As previously, we'll be discussing what Jesus appears to ask of us in the postmodern culture in which we find ourselves.
